Substampede Tasks

Cap'n Dread's First Task: Steal Candy from A Baby

Wrecking yard. Mountain of rusty cars and metallic junk next to abandoned wooden hut.

Rupert builds a complex tunnel boring machine using the following items: fence, metal bars, purlins, gas welding torch, duct tape. Once activated, machine digs a hole to enter hut. Machine goes out of control. Stop lever breaks. Machine hits septic tank. Jet propulses Rupert out of tunnel. Rupert lands over "unwelcome" door mat. Key was all along under mat.

Female computer voice indicates A Baby´s DNA is required to unlock.

While vault opens, a female computer voice says: "access granted"

Ultra high tech vault, contrasts with abandonment of setting. Has a keypad smeared with chocolate fingertips, tho the order is not given away by such marks. The correct order of the password sounds like Funky Town. There's a Funky Town poster in A Baby's room.

Cap'n Dread's Second Task: Midget Security Agency Sabotage

Find out how to deceive midgets into abandoning the Thundercano

Forge Official Announcement Note

Deliver the forged Official Announcement Note

Cap Dread tells Rupert that he must get rid off of the MSA (Midget Security Agency), but has no clue as to how drive them off. Rupert shows up at the Thundercano entrance and meets Hightower. Rupert talks him into leaving but Hightower won't pay attention to him.
Rupert realizes the MSA listens to the Thundercano announcements made by the Ventriloquist and it's the only way he can get them to abandon the facility.
Rupert can visit The Ventriloquist's cabin, where he finds out the announcements are only read when they come through one of the messaging tubes.
